Dear Great Ormond Street Hospital (GOSH) Security Guards,

We wanted to write to you as frontline nurses to offer you our solidarity during your upcoming industrial action.

You deserve to be treated the same as nurses and we will always stand with you. Thank you for everything that you are doing to fight against outsourcing and privatisation which is ripping apart our NHS and putting us all at risk.

None of us could do our roles without the support of the security guards who help to keep us safe and are an integral part of our team. For you to be treated as second class citizens is against everything that we as nurses stand for.

Poor pay and conditions do nothing for our health and our patients suffer when we cannot retain NHS staff. So keep up the good work and let us know if there is anything else we can do to support you.

In solidarity,

Nurses United UK
